

Meaned spaces and a general duality principle

József Kolumbán József J. Kolumbán

03.10.2013

Abstract

We present a new duality principle, in which we do not suppose that the range of the functions that are to be optimized is a subset of a linear space. Therefore, unlike the classical optimization theory, our main result can be applied for example to functions with ranges in Heisenberg groups.