

Decomposition of vector variational inequalities

Nicolae Popovici

23.05.2013

Abstract

We consider vector variational inequalities defined by means of the usual componentwise ordering in a finite dimensional Euclidean space. Our principal result shows that, under suitable convexity assumptions, every weak solution of a vector variational inequality is a strong solution of a reduced variational inequality, obtained from the initial one by considering a selection of components.